Ali brought joy to all who knew her in her short 10.5 years on Earth. Her giggle was contagious and her smile could light up a room. She loved her family, friends and dog. She was a very talented artist, dancer, pianist and softball player. She loved barbeque chips and chocolate, swimming, shopping, taking vacations and playing Barbies. Her favorite subjects were social studies and reading.

Ali handled her diagnosis with grace and bravery. She never complained or asked “why me?” Her mother says she sends signs every day that tell her she is always near. She lives on in her family’s minds and hearts forever. Her mother is privileged to have given birth to her hero!
